

Welcome Letter from the School Principal to the Entire Community

Dear all,

I would like to address my first greeting to the students of CPIA. I have come here from Calabria, leaving my family and my homeland for a new challenge, and like you, I have invested in education. A school that I have chosen and whose mission I fully share. This is the school of "second chances," which everyone deserves in life, after mistakes made, injustices suffered, or "falls," whatever their nature may have been. The school of hope.

Therefore, I wish you all that attending our training courses will be the redemption you desire and that the qualifications and certifications you will obtain will be "passports" to your personal and social fulfillment. All my work will be directed towards your success. With the same enthusiasm, I would like to cordially greet the teachers and ATA staff of CPIA, whom I have already had the pleasure of meeting and discovering their uncommon qualities of affability and professionalism. I greet the fellow principals of the area, the referents of local associations, the mayor of Forlì, the councilor for education and the director of the penitentiary. The directors of the UST and the USR with their collaborators. I thank the principals who preceded me and who have taken turns in the direction of the institute in recent years, for their contributions to the growth of the school's identity and for their availability towards me in the handover.

I am excited and honored to have been appointed "guide" of this institute. I hope to live up to it. I understand the responsibility and feel the burden of management, but trusting in the valuable collaborations of you all, I hope to meet everyone's expectations.
